

The Uncooperative Slingshot

By Michele Clark McConnochie

Crowning Glory!

“I got to my feet shakily, stumbling slightly. Transporting from Melas, USA, to Dralfynia was never fun. I wondered if I would ever get used to it.

The first thing I did once I had regained my balance was to look myself up and down to see who I was this time round. I saw that I wore a plain skirt with a little pink pinafore and a plain top. OK, this was better ... On the other hand ... I patted the top of my head. Disappointing. No crown.”

Sabrina Summers loves a crown! She wears one in The Uncooperative Flying Carpet, a different one in The Uncomfortable Glass Slippers, but none at all in The Uncontrollable Slingshot! However, when the book ends, she is heading off to her own coronation. That means, she will be given the biggest and most beautiful crown when she is made queen.

Design a fabulous crown, one that you think Sabrina would really like!